Skipton Public Art installation opens

Tuesday 26th September saw the opening of a Public Art installation in Skipton. The Skipton Public Art project received funding of $50,000 from the Berrybank 1 Wind Farm. After numerous meetings 17 artists submitted applications. In December 2021, Mike Mataron and his ideas were chosen to create the public art.

Two pieces of artwork have been completed as part of the project. The sculpture 'Platypus Rising' is a new source of pride for Skipton. The four-metre-high sculpture was installed at Stewart Park on the Queen's Birthday weekend. Four patinated aluminium platypuses swim upwards around reeds made of Corten steel which will organically develop a surface layer of corrosion from exposure to moisture and air.

The colourful mural on the side of Emu Café captures eucalyptus leaves and florals that are found in the Skipton region, as well as the iconic platypus. These artworks beautify the town and give travellers another reason to stop and explore as they travel around the Volcanic Lakes and Plains region.

Spanish Minister for Industry, Trade and Tourism, Reyes Maroto, officially opens Naturgy's first battery storage centre worldwide in Australia

The Spanish Minister for Industry, Trade and Tourism travelled to Australia to officially open the Queanbeyan Battery Centre. The minister was joined by the Spanish Ambassador, the Managing Director of GPG, the Director-General for International Trade and Investments, the Head of the Economic and Trade Office, the Director of the Spanish Chamber of Commerce and Trade, GPG Head of Development in Australia and other members of the GPG Australia team.

The Queanbeyan Battery Centre is the first storage facility that Naturgy will put into operation anywhere in the world. It is located in the Australian Capital Territory, close to the city of Canberra, and will perform a strategic role in support of the local distribution network.

Based on a 10 MW system of Lithium-Ion batteries and a storage capacity of 20 MWh, the Queanbeyan centre will be able to uptake electricity from the Berrybank 2 Wind Farm and output it to the grid at times when demand exceeds power being generated.

In this way, the facility will not only strengthen supply but will also contribute to promoting the energy transition in Australia, guaranteeing the presence of clean energy in the network in a continuous and stable manner.
